Preface

The early years lay the foundation for a child's lifelong learning and development. During this formative stage, stories create a wonderful space for children to explore language, discover new ideas, express emotions, and let their imagination soar.

Wonder Tales for Nursery, LKG & UKG is thoughtfully crafted to make storytelling an engaging and enriching experience for young learners. Featuring simple, delightful, and age-appropriate stories, the series draws children into familiar situations while introducing them to new experiences, ideas, and perspectives.

Rooted in the vision of NEP 2020 and the principles of Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE), the series promotes holistic development through joyful, play-based, and experiential learning. Each story encourages children to listen attentively, observe closely, think creatively, communicate confidently, and express their thoughts and feelings.

Carefully chosen themes and vibrant illustrations support the development of vocabulary, communication, imagination, creativity, social-emotional skills, and positive values. Every story is designed not only to entertain but also to spark curiosity, encourage meaningful conversations, and connect learning with children's everyday lives.

We hope Wonder Tales fills each reading moment with joy and wonder, while nurturing a lasting love for stories, books, imagination, and learning.

Happy Reading!

Rohan and the Silent Car

It was a Sunday morning, and Rohan was getting ready for a family outing. He packed his small backpack with his water bottle, a storybook, and his favourite toy car. When Papa called him downstairs, Rohan ran towards the parking area. But suddenly he stopped. “Papa, why can’t I hear the car?” he asked. Papa laughed. “What do you mean?” “Our car is here, but I cannot hear ‘vroom-vroom’.” Did it stop working?” Papa opened the car door and smiled. “No, Rohan. This is our new electric car. It works differently.”

Story C - 1

Rohan sat inside the car and looked around. “Papa, where is the engine?” he asked.
Papa smiled. “This is an electric car. It runs on a big battery.”
“So, we charge it like my toy car?” Rohan asked. “Yes, but this battery is much bigger,” said Papa.
On the way, Rohan noticed people looking at their car. “Papa, why is everyone looking at us?”
“Electric cars are still new to many people,” Papa explained.
At the traffic signal, a cyclist came near them and said, “Your car is so quiet! I could hardly hear it.”
Rohan smiled. “That’s because it does not make loud engine noise.”
Papa added, “Electric cars are quiet and do not release smoke from the exhaust like petrol or diesel cars.”

After some time, they reached a shopping mall. While parking, Rohan noticed a special machine. “Papa, what is that?” he asked. Papa pointed towards it. “It is a charging station for electric cars.” Rohan looked curious. “So, cars come here instead of going to petrol pumps?” “Yes,” said Papa. “We charge them here, and then they are ready to go.” On their way home, Rohan looked at Papa and thought about their electric car. “Papa, I never knew electric cars could help keep the air cleaner,” he said. Papa smiled. “New things are coming every day. We should learn how to use them.”

That evening, Rohan could not stop talking about his new car ride.
“Grandma, do you know our car runs without petrol? It uses a battery!” he said excitedly.
Grandma listened carefully and said, “People make new things to make our lives easier.”
Rohan looked at his toy car and said, “I want to learn more about these new inventions.”
Grandma smiled. “Keep asking questions. Great ideas often begin with curiosity.”
